Rare Coins Australia Grading System

Grade	Abbreviation	Description
Proof	Proof	Proof is a type of coin, not a condition or grade. Proof coins are especially struck for collectors and not intended for circulation. They have mirror-like surfaces and often a frosted relief.
Fleur de coin	FDC	Describes a coin in the highest state of preservation. It can be applied to proof and circulated coins. The strike is flawless and well centred. Design details are razor sharp. The coin surface and rim will not show any detracting marks and full fresh mint lustre must be present. Silver coins may feature an attractive patina (see below). Bronze coins must be fully brilliant.
Almost Fleur de coin	aFDC	Just a touch off FDC
Gem Uncirculated	Gem UNC	Faultless with a strong but not necessarily perfect strike. Detracting marks will be insignificant. Retains full lustre or mint bloom. Patina may be present on both silver and bronze coins. Very strong eye appeal is present.
Choice Uncirculated	Choice UNC	A well struck uncirculated coin free of any significant detracting marks and retaining full mint lustre or attractive patina. Good eye appeal.
Uncirculated	UNC	A coin not circulated and therefore shows no wear. It may be struck from a worn die and not all the intricate details of the design may be fully formed. Moderate but not significant detracting marks (eg bag marks) from the production process may be evident in the fields and on the rim. Attractive eye appeal.
Almost uncirculated	aUNC	As circulated but with faint traces of wear on the highest points of the design.
Good extremely fine	gEF	Between EF and aUNC
Extremely fine	EF	Shows slight wear on the highest points barely noticeable to the naked eye.
Almost extremely fine	aEF	Just a little below EF
Good very fine	gVF	Between VF and aEF
Very fine	VF	Shows distinct signs of wear, with the high points of the coin completely missing. Most of the lustre is absent. Generally pleasing to the eye with most of the main detail still quite sharp. Slight rim damage may be present in the form of tiny indentations.
Almost Very Fine	aVF	Just a little below VF
Good Fine	gF	Between F and aVF
Fine	F	Despite significant wear, the main features are easy to recognise. The details are just starting to take shape.
Almost Fine	aF	Just a little below F
Fair	Fair	Extensive wear but main features are still distinguishable and the date, most of the legends and inscriptions are still readable.
Poor	Poor	Extremely worn with little to see but can still identify coin to type. Date visible.

The patina or toning of a coin is the natural colouring acquired with the passing of time. A very attractive patina may result in a considerable premium over catalogue price due to exceptional eye appeal. Conversely, a coin unattractively or unevenly toned may have reduced value compared to catalogue. In older coins, natural toning can be sought after. 'Faultless' means no scratches, detracting marks, dents, gouges, corrosion or other damage to the coin. As far as possible we aim to avoid detracting features.
